Changing Our Hearts

On the deepest level, it could be said that the desertification of the planet reflects the desertification of the human spirit.

We can make a difference by reining in our desires, and developing the empathy to feel the pain of others as our own.

Sustainable development is development that meets the needs of the present without compromising the ability of future generations to meet their own needs.

Brundtland Commission report
Our Common Future, 1987

The future of life may depend on the largeness of our embrace.